

FIGUERAS INTERNATIONAL SEATING, a company specialized in the design, manufacturing, sales and installation of seating for large assemblies, in its objective to establish a compromise with the preservation of the environment, established the following directives:

- To propose the continuous improvement as the essential tool of our management system, revising periodically our environmental actions.
- To take the compromise of knowing and complying with the regulations concerning the environment that apply to Figueras and are in force
- To consider essential the aspects of training and conscious awareness of our human team to participate and behave as per the directives of respect toward the environment, as established in this Policy
- To take the compromise of using the resources in the best effective way and, to reduce as much as possible water and power consumption.
- To prevent pollution while carrying our operations.

All these aspects are in the environmental management system based in the ISO 14001:96 regulations

The Board commits itself to communicate this compromise to the whole organization to make it known and to be fulfilled in order to apply the directives permanently.
